LASER HAIR REMOVAL

Why live with unwanted hair?

With IPL Laser Hair Removal, you can choose to enjoy smooth skin day after day - and say goodbye to waxing and shaving. IPL laser hair treatment is the safe, long-term solution to unwanted or excess hair for both men and women.

The treatment is suitable for most areas of the face and body.

What Is IPL ?

IPL stands for Intense Pulsed Light.

How Does IPL Laser Hair Removal Work And Is It Safe?

IPL and lasers emit a precise light that passes through the skin and is absorbed and converted into heat at the hair follicle. We use state-of-the-art technology to customise your treatment depending on your skin type and hair density.

IPL laser hair removal is non-invasive and safely removes unwanted body hair without damaging surrounding tissue.

Who Can Be Treated?

All skin types can be treated. Please note we do not treat persons under 18 years old.

What Does The Treatment Involve ?

Consultation: During your consultation session the treatment protocol will be explained in detail including any contra-indications. (Please note that some individuals may not be suitable for treatment due to certain medications or existing medical conditions). You will be asked to fill in a form and sign a client consent form. If required, a test patch will then be carried out to determine suitability and skin reaction, you will be provided with special protective eyewear whilst undergoing the test patch. It is advisable to wait at least 48 hours following the test patch and having the first treatment.

Treatment: You may experience a slight warm tingling sensation as the IPL laser hand- piece is moved over the target area, and you will also see a series of short flashes of light as it passes over the area. You may not notice an immediate difference initially, but usually within 2-3 weeks of your second treatment, most of the hair follicles will start to die off.

Why Have IPL Treatments For Hair Removal?

Hair removal techniques such as waxing, plucking or shaving are only temporary. Until recently, electrolysis has been the only long-lasting hair removal solution, but as each hair has to be treated individually by electrolysis, this can be time-consuming and painful. A major advantage of IPL laser hair removal treatment is that it targets a large number of hair follicles at the same time, resulting in quicker results for permanent hair reduction.

If you are tired of painful waxing, shaving, plucking or electrolysis, IPL laser hair removal may be for you. Also, if you suffer from ingrown hairs, IPL laser offers an ideal solution.

Will IPL Hair Removal Work For Me?

The best results are generally achieved on white skin with dark hair - but we are also able to treat darker skin tones as well. Other factors may influence the treatment process. We offer a free consultation during which the treatment most suitable for the client can be evaluated and discussed in person.

Are There Any After Effects Following Treatment?

Sometimes redness and sensitivity of the area treated may be present for a few hours following treatment. Aloe Vera Gel can be applied to soothe and calm the area- we stock this gel at the Clinic. We also strongly recommend the use of sunscreen on exposed areas after treatment.

How Many Treatments Are Needed?

Typically it will take between 6 and 8 treatments, depending on your skin type, hair colouring, coarseness of the hair and density of the treated area. A treatment will be required approximately once every 4 to 8 weeks (depending on which part of the body is being treated). IPL laser removal treatment will cause a permanent reduction in the number of hairs growing in a particular area.

The Technical Bit

IPL Laser Hair Removal

Why live with unwanted hair? With laser hair removal, you can choose to enjoy smooth skin day after day - and say goodbye to waxing and shaving. IPL laser hair treatment is the safe, long-term solution to unwanted or excess hair for men as well as women. Laser hair removal is suitable for most areas of the face and body. A course of laser hair treatments will leave your skin soft and smooth.

Growth Cycle And Colour Of Your Hair

In order to understand the laser hair removal process and how some lasers can remove hair, it is important not only to consider the structure of a growth cycle of the hair, but also the colour of the hair. Hair consists mainly of a hard protein known as Keratin, produced by the hair bulb, which is situated deep within the dermis.

The colour of the hair depends on the presence of a pigment known as Melanin. Melanin is produced by pigment-forming cells (or melanocytes), which are found in the hair bulb. The ultimate colour of the hair is determined genetically and by the type of melanin produced by the melanocytes.

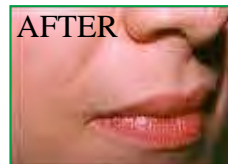

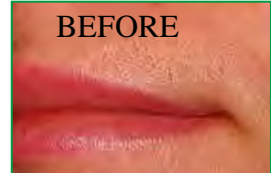

Hair growth occurs in a cyclical fashion, with an active growing phase, anagen, and a resting phase, telogen. During anagen, the hair is connected directly to the hair matrix in the base of the hair follicle. During telogen, however, the hair bulb moves away from the base of the follicle so that there is a gap between the bottom of the hair and the bottom of the hair follicle.

When To Have IPL Laser Hair Removal Treatment

The more commonly-used laser hair removal treatments depend on the high level of energy in the laser light being taken up by the melanin pigment within the hair. The melanin converts the energy into heat, destroying not only the hair but the hair matrix and hair bulb at the base of the follicle. The heat generated in the hair follicle is conducted down to the base of the follicle much more readily in an anagen hair (which is still connected to the base of the follicle) than in the resting telogen hair (when any heat generated has to cross the gap to reach the future hair-producing region). This is why most effective laser hair removal occurs when the follicles are in the active anagen growing phase. Because not all follicles are in this phase, multiple laser hair treatments are almost always required.

The best results also occur when there is plenty of target pigment melanin in the hair and therefore white, blonde and grey hair does not respond well to treatment.

ANYTHING ELSE YOU SHOULD KNOW?

The Care Quality Commission

When you decide to have Laser or IPL Treatment treatments, it is in your interests to ensure that the premises and the person who treats you are registered with The Care Quality Commission (previously known as The Healthcare Commission) as an Approved Provider. In fact, any establishment operating Laser or IPL machines in England for hair removal without Care Quality Commission Approval is both acting illegally and without insurance.

The Care Quality Commission promotes improvement in the quality of the NHS and independent healthcare including approved Laser and IPL clinics. They have a statutory duty to assess the performance of healthcare organisations and co-ordinate reviews of healthcare by others.

Chester House Beauty Clinic is registered with The Care Quality Commission. Our approval means that we are committed to providing you the very best in care. Rigorous standards have been established including staff training, area and machine operational safety, health and safety standards, medical protocols including our appointment of a medical consultant to ensure client risks are minimised.
